All sorts of pressure have been applied. in vain and cart of every hun red complaints of mangled or delayed merrages, not more than : two are met by redress in explanation. It is quite time therefore that an alternative line abould be established, and this is a matter which comesens the Government quite is much ing the community at large. If such prairiest considerations atord above, they would fully justify the trilling rink which the Government world run by taking into their own barris the establishment of a sound line of telegraph to India: and though, no doubt. sing. the end must soon be achieved by private enterprise, it is by no, means certain, that the course most conductive to immediate profit will be that which the interests of the country would rothe command. Two projects have for some time who been before the public, both Assigned to supplement the shortcomings of the existing tele-One of these is simply the restoration. of the Red "en cable; the other proposes ou ec of |ontire y new line, through Prussia, Bussia, and Persia, to join the submarine cable in the Persim Galf. The recommendations of the former scheme are, that we have already a reasonably good telegraphic communication with Spez; and the rest of the line to be laid under water will same he free from interference or delay occasioned by foreign Governments, and will be worked by English employee at the stations which were

Ransia, and Persia has the advantage, in the first place, of the greater chemicss of construction of a hand line, and has also secured a pledge from to Governmenta through whose territory it will pass that the working shall be left in the hands of the Company which undertaken it, subject to the payment of certain not inconsiderable royalties. In unity of working this line would surmas even the Red Sea project, for between Alexandria and England it is necessary to traverse Italy, and either France or Germany. In Italy the Government is willing to place the working of the telegraph in English hands, but weenmotpass through France, or by the alternative route through Germany, without being dependent on meticondministration. Penetically. lowever the French and German telegraphs are worked only as well as our own; and the delivery of messages from India, vid France or Germany, would not be approximally inspected by the transit through oither of these countries. It may therefore by assumed that either us the facilities so argently required, and that the choice between them, if we are not to. have both must rest on other grounds. We may add that the Government has steadily refried to give any speakl countenance to either . of these valuable undertakings; and, if the decision was to depend simply on the cortvenience of the commercial world, it would perhaps be difficult to come to a couclomen; aubmarine cable, especially one heavy chough to be permanant, in the Red See, in much more couly in the first instance than a land line; and when allowance is made for the maintenana of a stormer, ready when wanted to repair defects, it is not clear that its maintenance much less expensive than that of an ordinary, line. The Rel Pen project would therefore need a not larger capital then its rival. On the o' her band, royalticannionating to about 10s. a message, heoides other privileges, would be reserved by the Governments of Prusale Russia, and Persia, and it is not easy to say whether, up on the whole, the one or the other line would be able to work. then with the lower tariff. In officionary theer would probably be little to choose. Bither would, in wedinary times, he worked sofficiently well to arow the present line out of the competition, for else to releven it as nothing hat a rival in the business could reform it Given perpernalmaity with Itusia, and it would be a matter of small concern which of the two projects should succeed in establishing its facting; and we have . no reason to doubt that any telegraph to India, properly conducted, would pay exceedingly well. But, as we have said, there is a possibility of war with Russin, and more than a possibility that, in such a contingency, we should be e id defend our Indian frontier. Then the telegraph would be of immensurable value, and if its route by through Russia the advantage would be taken away from us and given to the guenry. luny Remote contingencies of this nature are prothat, party par out of sight by cosmopolitan companies to whom Russian roubles are as acceptwhat ab'c as English sovereigns; but if our Governhat of bound to do so in a matter of so great importmerica ance, there ean be no doubt of the policy which Indian the interest of the country dielates.

News from the North. Papers to the 13th have come diwn from Shanghai. They contain news from Tientsia to the 5th, at which date the excitement about the rebels had subsided. The tone of tion of the present communication would lead to the tablish supposition that the first stories were greatly India: exaggerated We read in the North China of that | Daily News :-

Ou the expling of the 2nd May the high street authorities the consuls officially, that the re des had left the Tientsin district and one in the direction of Tsanighow, since then we have neither seen par heard anything of reliels around Tigatsin. The ramport gates are, however, still carefully granded by suldiers as whon, the rebals were itt our meightimerhood. Numbers of dead bodies were went by some of the insidents yesterday floating down with the cho tide, having, we understood come down the grand canal. Consul Mongain, the chairman of the Defence Committee, continues to maintain the drilling of the Tazechuhlin volunteirs; and nesdoubt exists in our minds about the present members of the corps forming the nucleus of a volunteer corps which will make itself a distinguished name and occupy some pages of the. Inture Angle thinese history. One apring races come off or Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, when we trust fortune will keep the wenther propitious for our bolidays. Business resier took mins in the most traviand condition imagnio failed able; and it is impossible at present to give a date when it will revive Both Nanzing and in terent Sincise leave to-morrow early.

TRENG-KWO FAS.
